ORGANIZATION.

The Law Department of the University of Cincinnati was organized in June, 1896, and received its first class in October of the same year. It was the purpose of the Board of Directors to make it truly a university law school, and the Faculty therefore established a rule requiring every applicant for admission to the school to pass an examination, or to exhibit a diploma at least equivalent to that received from a high schools.

In the conduct of the school the Faculty decided that the wisest course would be to follow, as closely as circumstances would permit, the method of study known as the "case" system, and in nearly all the subjects the instructors have adopted this system.

THE LAW SCHOOL OF THE CINCINNATI COLLEGE.

The Law School of the Cincinnati College was founded in May, 1833. It was the first law school established west of the Alleghany Mountains. The first term began on October 7, 1833. In 1835 the Law School was incorporated with the Cincinnati College, a literary and academic institution, founded in 1819; and from that time it was conducted under the name of the "Law School of the Cincinnati College." As such, it became permanently located in the College building, on Walnut Street, between Fourth and Fifth Streets, in the City of Cincinnati. It has enjoyed the benefit of a substantial endowment, and has acquired a large law library.

THE UNION OF THE TWO SCHOOLS.

In May, 1897, steps were taken by the Board of Directors of the Cincinnati College to bring about a union of the Law Department of the University and the Law School of the Cincinnati College. A contract, drawn up by a joint committee representing the Board of Directors of the University of Cincinnati and the Trustees of the Cincinnati College, was ratified by both bodies. By this contract, it was provided that the Faculty of the Law Department, together with certain members of the Faculty of the Law School of the Cincinnati College, should be the Faculty of the new school; and that the degree of Bachelor of Laws should, by the concurrent action of the Board of Directors of the University of Cincinnati and the Trustees of the Cincinnati College, be conferred upon those passing satisfactory examinations in the new school.

RESULT OF THE UNION.

The benefit to the cause of thorough legal education arising from the union was substantial. The University of Cincinnati thus acquired a substantial endowment fund and a law library (now numbering 7,500 volumes) for the use of its Law Department, together with the advantage of the good-will of the Law School of the Cincinnati College, and of its honorable history of more than half a century.

The course and methods of study in the new school are the same as those marked out by the Faculty of the Law Department of the University before the union. The endowment enables the new school to enlarge the course of study, and to make the work more thorough than would have been possible had the two schools continued separate.

Two hours and two additional subjects will be added to the schedule of the first year.

Every candidate for a degree is required to pursue a course of study embracing twelve hours of recitation a week for the first year, thirteen hours a week for the second year, and fourteen hours a week for the third year, in addition to Moot Court work.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The Fall Term begins on Monday, September 26 and the Spring Term on the first Wednesday in February.

There is a vacation of two weeks during the Christmas holidays, beginning Monday before Christmas.

REGISTRATION.

Applicants for admission by examination to the first-year or second-year class must register at the rooms of the Law School on or before Wednesday, September 21.

Applicants for admission on certificate without examination to the first-year class must register at the Law School rooms on or before the Saturday preceding the last Monday in September.

EXAMINATIONS.

The annual examinations of each class are held during the last two weeks in May.

Examinations for admission to the first-year class of those who can not produce the requisite certificate are held at the lecture-room on the Wednesday preceding the last Monday in September of each year. At the same time and place examinations are held of those desiring admission as regular students to the second-year class.

No one can be admitted as a regular student to the third-year class who has not completed the second-year course as a student in this school or some other school of equal standing.

No student who fails to pass a satisfactory examination of his year's work is permitted to enter upon the next year's course. If a student fails to pass a satisfactory examination in three of the subjects of the year's study, he is dropped, and can not continue in the school except by taking again the year's course in which he has failed. If a student fails in one or two subjects of the year, he is conditioned, and before entering upon the next year's course is required, in October, to pass a satfactory examination in such subjects.

DEGREES.

The degree of Bachelor of Laws is given to students who, having completed the three years' course, pass a satisfactory final examination.

LOCATION OF SCHOOL.

The school is located in the central part of the city, on Ninth Street between Race and Vine Streets, in a new building, just completed at an expense of $65,000. The building, planned especially for Law School purposes, is artistic and complete in every detail.

The law library and stack-room are located on the first floor. On the same floor is the large reading room, well furnished with chairs, reading and writing tables, with a capacity for seating 300 persons. This room is so arranged that it can be used as an audience room for general meetings of the school, or for special occasions, requiring a large room.

On the floor above are the professors' rooms and three large lecture rooms well lighted and ventilated.

There are also club rooms with chairs, tables and lockers, for the convenience and accommodation of the students.

Every effort has been exerted to make this new building a complete home for the school and an attractive place for Law School work.

TUITION FEE.

The tuition fee for stndents who are candidates for a degree is $100 a year, the first half payable upon registration, the second half at the beginning of the second term.

LIBRARY.

The school has a library of 7,500 volumes in the same building with its recitation rooms. The library is open to the students daily from 9 o'clock A. M. to 10 o'clock P. M.

MOOT COURTS.

Moot Courts will be held once a week under supervision of members of the Faculty, in each class. Cases may be taken, on error or appeal, to the Moot Court of the next higher class, or be re-argued before members of the Faculty.

INSTRUCTION IN OTHER DEPARTMENTS.

Any student in the Law Debartment, though a non-resident of Cincinnati, may, without additional charge, attend the lectures, and receive instruction in the Academic Department of the University. Non-resident students who wish to avail themselves of this privilege must procure from the Librarian of the Law School a certificate of membership of the school.

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR JUNIORS AND SENIORS OF THE ACADEMIC DEPARTMENT.

A student of the Academic Department in Junior Class may, with the permission of the President of the University, take as a substitute for his elective studies in that department from four to six hours of the lecturss of the first year of the Law School course; and such student, in the following Senior year of the Academic Department, may, in the same way, take the remainder of the twelve hours of the first year's course in the Law School. A student of the Academic Department who pursues this course is obliged to devote only two years to the study of law, after graduating from the Academic Department, in order to obtain the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

SPECIAL STUDENTS.

Special students, not candidates for a degree, who wish to attend only part of the lectures and recitations of the Law School, may do so upon giving satisfactory evidence of their fitness for such a course of study, and upon payment of such a proportionate part of the regular tuition fee as may be fixed by the Dean.

ADMISSION.

Graduates and matriculates of a college, academic or technological, and graduates of a public high school, or of a private academy of equivalent standing, and holders of a certificate from the committee appointed by the Supreme Court of Ohio showing that the applicant's attainments are equivalent to those of a high school graduate, are admitted to the first-year class without examination, on exhibiting the proper certificate. Other applicants are required to pass an examination. The examination covers the following subjects:

English Composition.—The applicant is required to write an essay of not less than three foolscap pages on on one of several topics, to be given him at the time of the examination. The proficiency of the applicant in spelling, punctuation, use of capital letters, grammar and paragraphing, is determined from this essay.

Latin.—The applicant is required to translate into good English a passage selected at random from the first four books of Caesar's Commentaries. As a substitute for Latin, the applicant may offer the reading of German or French at sight; or he may pass an examination in the outlines of English Literature—(Stopford Brooke's Primer of English Literature).

History.—Outlines of English and American History. (Johnson's History of the United States; Ransom's History of England).

Mathematics.—Arithmetic, Algebra to Quadratic Equations, and Plane Geometry.

Applicants for admission to advanced standing are required to pass examinations on the course of study previously pursued in the school by the class to which they seek admission.

EXPENSES.

The text-books used cost from $40 to $50 each year. The following is said to be a reasonable statement of expenses:

Rent and care of room, per week, . .	$1 00 to $3 00
Board, per week, ...	2 50 to 5 00

For additional information, application should be made to the Librarian of the Law School, Cincinnati, or to the Dean.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND PRIZES.

The Faculty have established a scholarship, to be awarded to a student, selected by the Faculty, who has completed the course of study prescribed for the second year class.

Mr. Richard H. Wald will give each year, so long as he lives, a certificate of stock in the Cincinnati Law Library or $100 in money, to be awarded to the student making the best record in the subject of Contracts.

A prize of $75 will be awarded to the student having the highest average of credits during the three years' course.

A prize of $50 will be awarded to the student having the next highest average of credits during the three years' course.

This year Judge John R. Sayler gave a prize of $50 for the best essay on the subject of Bills and Notes, and a prize of $50 for the best essay on Evidence.

This College was organized in 1845, and the 58th Annual Session begins about October 1, 1903. This is the first dental college established in the West. It is co-educational, and has a teaching corps of twenty instructors. Its buildings are modern and well adapted to the requirements of modern dental education, and its clinics are unsurpassed. Optional Spring and Fall Courses in clinical instruction are also given.
